

Dear L.I.T. Applicant:

Thank you for your interest in the Leader-in-Training Program at Camp Gray. You will be challenged to step into a new role at camp: the role of a servant-leader. You will learn a ton — practical things such as behavior management skills, child development, appropriate discipline, how to lead games and songs, Camp Gray policies and procedures, and how to interact and grow with one another in positive, healthy ways.

The first week of LIT's is like a mini-staff training week. You'll grow together as an LIT community and learn from experienced staff members. During the second week of the program, you'll shadow a counselor and help out with his/her cabin group. In the third and final week of the program, you'll take more of a leadership role with your cabin group, being a counselor-for-a-day.

As a first step to the program, we ask that you fill out the enclosed application for the LIT program. It is much like a job application. It will help us to know you a little better, and plug your gifts and skills into camp. After we receive your application, we will call you to set up an interview, most likely over the telephone. Soon after the interview, we will let you know if you have been accepted into the program. (Please do not register for Summer Camp until this time.) More specific details will follow, pertaining to weekends, supervision, LIT activities, etc.

The LIT program is a humbling and arduous program. Due to the many responsibilities of being an LIT, full participation in the program is not guaranteed after your acceptance. After the first week, you will meet with the LIT supervisor to evaluate your readiness to continue with additional responsibilities such as shadowing counselors, taking a leadership role with your cabin, and taking the role of counselor-for-a-day. (Though, we should reassure you that a camper not being asked to continue the program after the first week is quite rare.)

If you or your parents have any questions about this experience, please give me a call. If you know of others interested in our LIT program, please encourage them to contact us soon, as each LIT session has only 8-9 openings. Thanks!

Hope to see you this summer!
Sincerely,

Zoe Bernard
Assistant Director
